From the Principal's Desk

Welcome to 2018

Welcome to our new families and students for 2018 and welcome back to those families and students continuing with us this year. We have had a fantastic start to the school year whereby students have been encouraged from the onset to be active members of their classrooms. Students have co-created classroom expectations, begun the process of developing inspiring learning spaces by creating inviting artwork and have commenced learning about what it takes to be a powerful and curious learner.

At Bute Primary School, we firmly believe that student learning and development is maximised when teachers, students and their families work together with a common goal and positive view of education. We invite all families to attend our Welcome Night, Tuesday of Week 3. This night will provide an opportunity to gather important information, meet with teachers as well as other key people for the year. I look forward to seeing many familiar faces and meeting new families on the night.

New Staff in 2018

We are very excited to welcome the following staff to Bute Primary School and Bute and District Preschool:

Dempsey Fuss – Preschool Teacher / Early Years Class

Charlotte Knight – Middle Primary

Jon Sharp – Upper Primary (Thursday and Friday)

The way in which these three people have commenced their time at Bute Primary School and District Preschool is highly commendable. They have been energetic, receptive to new ideas and most importantly have modelled being excellent learners for our students.

My observations of Bute Primary School

Although my time at Bute Primary School has been brief, I wanted to share some of my initial observations about what makes this school such a wonderful place for staff, students, families and the wider community.

The sense of community - The strong link between the community and the school has been apparent from the onset. Driving through Bute, it is heartening to see some of the projects undertaken by the school to contribute to continuing to keep Bute beautiful. The painted stobie poles and mosaic pavers add a splash of colour which I'm certain is appreciated by the community and visitors alike.

Relationships - It is highly apparent that students and teachers have developed some positive and productive relationships. When entering the various learning spaces, it is evident that students feel safe and valued. These relationships are vital in setting the foundations for students to feel supported to take risks with their learning and to step outside of their comfort zones. I am excited about where this will take our students in 2018.

Commitment to change - A new school year always brings about change and this year with a myriad of new staff, the change will be significant. Students have displayed a high level of resilience in being open to this change and in many instances, contributing positively as change agents in their class.

In closing, I wish all students and their families the very best for 2018 and I look forward to continuing to build positive and productive relationships to ensure our students can reach their full potential.

Mosaics:

A huge thankyou to Andrew & John Pridham for all their work during the holidays to fit the mosaic pavers into the footpath in front of the school. Please have a look at them when you're visiting the school. They look great! These were made by the students under the guidance of Marg Ridge from Port Broughton. The project was funded by a grant from the District Council of Barunga West.
